Language and Grammar Tips: #8

One word or two?

When do you use 'everyone' and when do you use 'every one'?

You use 'everyone' when you are talking about everybody. Everyone is a pronoun.

You use 'every one' when you are talking about individuals in a group.

Examples:

Everyone has green clothes.

The boss told every one of us to come in green clothes.

The boss told every one of us to come in green clothes.